OPERATION OF CENTER TO REC COMMISSION

Mayor Anthony Gaggero announced Monday night that administration of the community center will be turned over to the Recreation commission.

The commission will move its offices to the civic structure within the next week or so, according to Elman Rose, recreation director.

"The council and the commission both wish to make full use of those facilities available in the auditorium," Rose said.

Rose said he had already received 13 applications from various organizations wishing to make use of the building. The majority of these were from groups who wished to use the building for meeting rooms, he added. For this type activity the auditorium would be a little awkward," the director said.

However, he pointed out that three or four groups would like to make use of the auditorium, these being folk dancing clubs and a drill team.

"No civic events have been definitely slated to take place at the center," Rose said, but added that there is a possibility the Christmas party may be held there.

Rose said he believed the building should be used to the fullest extent but explained that the heating plant is not yet permanent.

The commission intends to go into the matter of administration of the building more fully at their next meeting, Nov. 25, Rose said.

Primary Treatment Type Sewage Plant Proposed Here

PROFOSED SEWAGE PLANT will be located at this site off Alemany extension in Westlake, south of Lake Merced. The sewage treatment plant, to be built at an estimated cost of between $500,000-$600,000, will be of the primary treatment type. At left, being pointed out by James Kennedy, member of Sewage District Board, will be located a digster tank, while two clarifier tanks will be installed to the right. Complaint from the state health department, the water pollution board and the San Francisco health department on the dumping of raw sewage into the ocean at Thornton beach, prompted the sewage district to begin drawing plans for a sewage bond issue. The issue is scheduled to be presented to voters of the district (Daly City and Colma) within 80 days. The plant would be able to handle sewage for a population up to 45,000, according to James Kennedy, secretary of the district.

COUNCIL TOLD OF BELLEVUE SEWAGE

Spokesman Says Problem Is Acute

A delegation of five highly aroused citizens from the 200 block on Bellevue street threw their problem before the city council Monday night and gave no quarter in asking for its solution.

Their spokesman, John Morello, 273 Bellevue avenue, demanded that raw sewage running down Bellevue from a broken line be cleaned up immediately.

"I'm getting damned tired of sewage running down the street. It's a health menace to us and our children. If one of our children should get polio we'll sue this city for plenty," Morello said.

The Bellevue street resident said, "We've contacted the mayor, the city engineer and every other public official in town and got no action. We'll go to the state and federal officials next if necessary."

Mayor Anthony Gaggero, presiding at the meeting, said that the matter was not one of city jurisdiction, but of the district sewage board, of which, he added, he was president.

Gaggero stated that City Engineer Edwin Smith had been authorized by the district to put in a 14-foot manhole to handle the sewage. Morello, more indignant, said that only one man had been working in the hole, and had only worked two days last week. "Is there only one man in the city who can dig holes? If this is an example of city government it stinks like the situation in front of our homes," Morello added.

City officials present all agreed that immediate action should be taken on the problem and asked Morello what he recommended.

Morello demanded that the street be washed down twice a day with a fire hose, at 10 a.m. and 10 p.m., until the manhole was installed, and the city assented to his dictates. Residents who accompanied Morello were Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Howland, Jack Stewart and Bruce Snider.

Community Chest Drive Is Now At 49.6% of Quota

At Wednesday night's Community Chest report meeting in San Mateo it was announced that Daly City had reached 49.6 per cent of its quota.

Attending the meet from Daly City were J. A. Rohl, of PG&E, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bertetta.

Chairman Bertetta said that a total of $1,636.64 additional funds were reported since the last tabulation of $2,581.12, bringing Daly City's overall total to $4,217.76.

Individual breakdowns showed: residential, $777.83, bringing total to $1,737.45, 41.6 per cent of quota; business, $523.31, bringing total to $1549.81, 69.3 per cent of quota; employee, $305.50, bringing total to $880.50, 44.2 per cent of quota.

Bertetta said the drive is now picking up and with additional workers it may go over the quota. Those willing to aid in the campaign should contact Bertetta.

OLPH Fund Drive Nets $108,837

PLANNERS WILL MEET TUESDAY

Daly City planinng commission will consider a petition from Michael C. Callan Tuesday night for annexation of uninhabited county territory in the Abbey Homestead area now owned by the county.

The commission will also consider a petition from 30 homeowners asking for the removal of the building at the south east corner of School street and Bruno avenue. The petitioners charge that the building is a fire hazard, an eyesore, and is a public nuisance not in keeping with the progress of Daly City.

Other new business will be the discussion of the application from William Nadeel for a permit to construct a building at Whittier and Hanover streets.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

Brunswick Extension Now Ready for Use

The extension of Brunswick street between Wellington and Hillside boulevard was completed last week and is ready for use.

The road was built was gas-tax money. Work on the extension began 2 years ago.

MORTUARY EXECUTIVE TAKES LIFE HERE AS COLLEAGUES LOOK ON

A 53-year-old mortuary executive, Cecil Joseph Dambacher, took poison here Wednesday as his two colleagues looked on, unable to stop the tragedy.

Dambacher, secretary of the firm of Suhr and Wieboldt, Inc., and husband of the firm's president, Mrs. Gesina Dambacher, left a brief note to the two men, William Hobson and Albert Michael, at the mortuary. It read:

"Dear Bill and Mike: You will find me in my car in Daly City by that old building near the board of health and stop signals (Market and Mission streets). Please look out for Gesina and help her."

The two men sped to the scene by auto.

Just as they arrived, Dambacher nodded to them, then lifted a paper cup to his lips!

On reaching the auto they found Dambacher slumped behind the wheel. An empty cup and a half-filled bottle of cyanide poison lay on the seat beside him.

The man was rushed to Alemany Emergency hospital in San Francisco. He regained consciousness there, turned and said, "I did it," then died.

The suicide and his wife had lived at 865 Dolores street and had been married four months.

Kick-off Luncheon Is Held by Chamber

MEMBERSHIP HAS ALREADY DOUBLED

Approximately 35 residents and business people of Daly City attended the Chamber of Commerce's membership campaign "kick off" luncheon held yesterday at the Lake Merced Country Club, according to Robert Hunter, membership committee chairman.

He stated further that his committee has been encouraged by the initial response and success that it has been receiving. With the campaign barely beginning to roll, starting with a membership of thirty, they have already doubled that figure. At this pace, the campaign goal of 150 members by Jan. 1 should easily be reached.

William Kennedy, president of the chamber noted that their appears to be a genuine recognition and demand that a Chamber of Commerce is needed here in Daly City. "With our continued growth of population, and expansion of incorporated area, business and professional people in this community recognize that there are problems which are developing as a result of this growth which could best be met by an active representative local Chamber of Commerce," Kennedy said.

LIONS READY FOR ART CONTEST HERE

Hoping to provide an added incentive to the unnoticed and potential art talents of today's youth, the Daly City-Colma Lions club have started on preliminary plans for the local "Youth Art Contest."

Elio A. Fontana, chairman, has announced that the initial steps have been taken, and that anyone of high or grammar school age is eligible to enter.

Entry blanks can be obtained from the art teachers of the local schools. It is hoped that in some instances the contest may become a school time activity.

Fontana and his committee, Stanford Hannah and Richard Crane, will coordinate the project with the local art teachers.

The contest is restricted to the Daly City-Colma area only. Starting date of the contest will be announced in THE RECORD. The contest will be set up as follows:

Classes:
1st to 4th grades
5th to 8th grades
9th to 12th grades
Categories:
Oils
Handicraft
Drawing
Photography
Colored Chalk

An applicant may enter in any one of the above fields. Every entry must be accompanied by an "Art Contest" entry blank.

Judges who will decide on entries will be collegiate and Bay Area art teachers. Prizes will consist of cups for first-place winner in each category and class. Second and third prize medals and ribbons will also be given.

Council Okeys Raise; Sgt. Hansen Given Permanent Position

The council Monday night approved a pay raise for one city employee and made permanent the position of another.

On recommendation of Arthur Bodien, superintendent of public works, monthly wages of August "Gus" Ford, foreman, were raised $20. The increase goes into effect as of Sunday.

Council also approved the recommendation of Police Chief Roland Petrocchi that Sgt. David Hansen be made a permanent member of the force.

Inquiry Made As To Local Water Rates

Have local water rates been raised? That was the question put to the council Monday night by a member of the audience who complained that her bills, as well as those of many of her neighbors, had risen appreciably recently without any apparent reason.

Arthur J. Bodien, head of the water department, said that any questions involving water bills should be brought to city hall, where they can be discussed with members of the department.

MUNDAY'S PET IS NOW PAST TENSE

Officer Charles Munday, skunk catcher par excellence, ran his record of apprehensions to 12 the other night, but the little stinker No. 12 kicked up quite a smell.

Munday was called to 381 Winchester street Thursday night to pick up a "black and white kitten" reported loitering on the premises.

Employing a skill that comes with long familiarity in the art of skunk-catching, Munday used a blanket as a foil and quickly captured the sometimes-pungent mammal.

Thinking he would keep the animal as a pet he left it at Lombardi's service station, planning to pick up the animal the following morning.

On arrival there the following day the scented pet was nowhere to be found.

Munday summoned aid in his search and, alas, soon came upon the skunk, and it was a toss-up as to who was the most surprised.

The police officer received a good quota of the animal's wrath —right on his jacket, which at last report was still hanging on the back fence of the police station undergoing the fresh air treatment.

The skunk, poor creature, was not only deodorized, but was delivered to the great beyond.

TRIO ROB STATION; KIDNAP WORKER

Three robbers, described as about 20 or 21 years old, held up the Standard Oil Co., 392 Alemany boulevard, early Sunday morning, making way with $34 and keeping the attendant "hostage" for several hours.

The thieves pulled up to the station at 12:30 a.m. Sunday, just as Richard Paddock, 1734 15th street, was closing up. One of the men remained in the car, while the other two approached Paddock. One of the trio told the attendant, "I'll take the money. Let's have it." All the while flourishing a .38 caliber pistol.

After turning the money over to the two men, Paddock was ordered to enter his own car. The two men who had accosted him then forced him to drive west on Alemany extension to the coast route following the route to Half Moon Bay. They then forced him to turn east and head for the Skyline. Meanwhile the third accomplice followed closely in the criminals' car.

Upon arriving at the intersection of Skyline and Half Moon Bay road, Paddock was ordered out.

The two men then drove off north on Skyline with the attendants' car, while their accomplice followed.

The kidnap victim caught a ride into Burlingame, where he contacted the police at 4 a.m. Daly City police were notified and Paddock was brought to the station here.

Police found Paddock's car a short distance from where he had been ordered out.

Hearing Here Monday On Road Realignment

A public hearing on the rerouting of the coast highway between Edgemar and the end of Alemany boulevard in Daly City will be held Monday morning at 10 a.m. in the council chambers.

Change in the highway's course has been sought because of the many cave-ins there during the rainy season, the dangerous curves, and the need to ready the highway for the time when a cloverleaf will be installed there.

Scheduled to be present at the hearing are City Engineer Edwin Smith, members of the council, and representatives from the state highway department.

Hillside Walk To Be Cleared Soon

Relief for pedestrians walking on Hillside between New Brunswick extension and E. Vista promises to be forthcoming.

At Monday night's council meeting Ed Denis asked if any thing had been done to rid the sidewalks of the mud and dirt that collects there from above. City Engineer Edwin Smith said he would give the Stoneson Development Co., owners of the property, 10 days notice to rid the sidewalks of the condition.

ALLEN TO APPEAR FOR SENTENCING NOV. 24th

Aris Tee Allen, 21, of Daly City, entered a plea of guilty to charges of possession of narcotics in Superior Court last week.

He will appear Nov. 24 at 1:30 p.m. for sentencing and report of probation officer.

CITY OF DALY CITY IS NAMED IN $40,000 DAMAGE CLAIM FILED HERE

The city of Daly City and the "superintendent of streets," Arthur J. Bodien, have been named by Lillian F. Sutton, 6925 Mission street, in a $40,000 damage claim presented to the city council Monday night.

Bodien quickly pointed out after the meeting that the complaint was in error, since he is not the bonafide street superintendent. Asked who was holder of that title, City Administrator Dan Andersen said, "That's a good question."

The technicality, however, will not have any bearing on the outcome.

In asking for the $40,000, the claimant asserts that on Sept. 4, while walking at the corner of Mission street and Los Banos avenue, she stepped into a hole in the sidewalk and fell on the ground.

According to the claimant, she has incurred $400 in medicinal, hospital and doctor bills due to

School Bond Vote Is Set for February

POSTPONEMENT DUE TO DELAY IN PROCEDURE

The date for a special bond election to secure authorization of the voters of the Jefferson Elementary school district to apply for state school building funds has been postponed to February.

The district's board of trustees met Saturday morning and agreed to establish that date for the special election.

The election, originally set for Tuesday, Nov. 18, had to be postponed because of delay in the state department of finance in establishing the procedures for applying for funds. The district will be eligible for a part of these funds by bonding itself to the legal limit. The state funds were made available to school districts by the voters in the recent general election.

The board also authorized painting and roofing repairs for the Westlake school, which suffered storm damage last spring. Repairs will be covered by the district's insurance.

Estimates for gardening service for the district were reviewed and contracts for achitectural services by Mario Ciampi for the Olympia school and the Vista Grande school were signed.

Hired as inspector for the Colma school construction was A. Martinoff.

The board recognized the state apportionment of $426,529.99 for average daily attendance.

"Teacher of the Month" selection, Mrs. Louise Plumb, eighth grade, was also noted by the board.

A letter from the district attorney was read before the board, informing them of the acquisition of the final parcel of property for the alternate route for the abandonment of White street in the Garden Village site.

Council Told Of Bellevue Sewage

Tuesday morning and the street department went to work on the manhole the same day. However, it was discovered that the blocked area could not be reached from the hole in progress, so workers began a new digging Wednesday above the residence where sewage has been blocked.

No further "flow" of sewage down the street has been reported to date.

John Muller, head of the campaign, reported that only 25 per cent of the parishioners were not at home. The drive will continue through next week as workers contact those who were not available the night of the campaign.

Father James Bergin, pastor, expressed his gratification at the success of the drive at a dinner held at 10 a. m. Sunday night.

Muller said the campaign was one of the most successful known to the diocese up to now. He added that the spirit of the parishioners was high.

More than 200 individuals worked to make the drive a success.

Deadline Tomorrow For Overseas Mail

The deadline for servicemen's overseas Christmas mail is tomorrow, Postmaster John F. Fixa said today.

The Yuletide mail for overseas has been going out in a steady flow for several weeks now and will continue to increase daily, the postmaster said.

Air Parcel Post intended for personel of the Armed Forces serving overseas or in naval vessels should be mailed in the San Francisco area not later than Nov. 25, 1952. Air Parcel Post mailed after that date cannot be assured airlift overseas and will be dependent on the military requirements at the time for transportation.

Senders are cautioned that Air Parcel Post is limited in weight to two pounds and cannot exceed 30 inches in length and girth combined. Air Parcel Post rate of postage is 80 cents a pound.

Third in Series Of Traffic Deaths Recorded by Patrol

The third in a series of traffic deaths which have tragically linked two California families was marked up today in the files of the California Highway Patrol.

An 80-year-old woman who died last week in a two-car collision at a northern California rural intersection was the latest victim. Two weeks before, her son, 60, had been fatally injured in an accident in the San Joaquin Valley.

The circle began about a year ago when the father of one of the drivers involved in last week's mishap was killed in a train-auto crash.

Patrol officials said that the survivors of these families were probably among the few persons in California who were convinced that accidents don't always happen to "other people."

The attitude of "it can't happen to me" is one of the most dangerous ideas a driver can have, they added.

Only when that is replaced with the feeling that "it" can happen anyplace, anytime and that preventative safety measures must be adopted and used constantly will the accident toll begin to drop.

The Patrol said that the misfortune of these two families should also serve as a reminder that more than 90 per cent of the accidents in the state are not accidents at all, but are caused by direct violations of traffic laws or safety rules by the drivers or pedestrians involved.

Rabbits, a primitive ground squirrel, a small gray fox, a ringtailed cat and similar animals are believed by geologists to have inhabited the San Francisco Bay region in prehistoric times.

Mrs. Howard Dunbar, president of the Westlake PTA, has accepted the Daly City chairmanship of the 1952 Christmas Seal sale, according to an announcement made today by Mrs. R. E. Pettingill, general chairman for this year's sale.

"Mail containing the customary seals and a message from the San Mateo County Tuberculosis and Health Association will be delivered to Daly City residents on Monday, Nov. 17, kick-off day for the sale all over the county," Mrs. Dunbar said today. "We want to make this year's Seal Sale the largest ever, in order to keep abreast of the tremendous growth in population in the county," she pointed out. "Our San Mateo County TB Association is expanding its free chest x-ray service in an effort to locate and stamp out the dread disease, and is continuing its public health education program. Let's all remember to buy and use our little Christmas Seals this year."

Mrs. Dunbar is also serving as a member of Mrs. Pettingill's overall committee which includes Dan O'Connell, San Mateo, Richard Hearst, Burlingame, Jack Canevari, So. San Francisco, Melbert Adams, E. Palo Alto, Mrs. Leland S. Rosener, Atherton, Fred Walker, Menlo Park, Wayne Millington, Redwood City, and Newell Sharkey, San Carlos.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—Is there any way to fix cracks in a cast iron boiler?

A—A compound of the kind used to stop leaks in an automobile radiator will serve to close small cracks. Larger cracks usually can be welded.

Q—Can new stucco be put on top of old?

A—Yes, if the old stucco still sticks firmly to the lath behind it. It should be cleaned thoroughly before the new material is applied.

Q—If shellac is spilled on clothes, how can it be removed?

A—Sponge the spot with alcohol.

Q—Is it possible to paint galvanized iron so that the paint won't flake off?

A—This is difficult to do because the galvanizing process leaves a film of zinc that prevents paint from bonding well. Old galvanized metal holds paint better than new. If galvanized metal is allowed to weather for at least six months before it is painted, good results usually will be obtained.

Q—If several small leaks have appeared in a roof, can it be repaired or is it time to put an an entirely new roof?

A—A new roof unquestionably is needed. Roofing will give many years of service but wears out uniformly, and the first leak in a roof that has had plenty of wear is a sign that the entire roof covering needs to be renewed. Patching is futile. The recommended way to reroof economically is to use asphalt shingles which can be applied directly on top of most old materials. This saves the expense of tearing the worn out roofing off.

Q—What can be done to keep moisture from condensing on cold water pipes?

A—The pipes can be insulated. Several types of insulating material can be used. A prefabricated type is split lengthwise so that it can easily be placed around the pipe. Other insulating materials are wrapped around the pipe. A third type is a mastic compound, which is applied to the pipe by hand.

Q—How can birds be kept out of a chimney?

A—Put a piece of wire mesh over over the top of the chimney. Smoke will still be able to escape, but birds and squirrels will find their way blocked.

Time To Use Driving Caution, Club Warns

Fall is in full swing again and those blustery fall rains are begininng to blow in from the sea to blur our windshields and cover our streets and highways with that slick and slippery sheen. Just about this time of year, points out the National Automobile Club, the wise motorists will be digging down into his bag of tricks to come up with those that are designed to keep him safe during his wet weather driving.

One of the most important of these tricks is that of seeing that your windshield wiper is in good shape and is working well. Take a look at it. If it's the kind that works pneumatically check on the suction tubing to see that it is sound. Take a good look at the blade. If it's cracked and warped won't do a good job of wiping, it's time to drive up to that service station and put in a new blade.

Full-Day's Schooling in Future?

Now that propositions 2 and 24 regarding schools have got the go-ahead from the voters, perhaps in the foreseeable future the drastic problem of overcrowdedness in local schools will be done away with.

Double sessions, a practice developed not out of expediency but of necessity, are the rule in the Jefferson elementary school district. With this set-up all of the children get some of their education, but none of the children get all their education. In some families the little ones trot off to school in the morning, returning in early afternoon, at which time the other siblings depart for their daily quota of learning.

Double sessions are in effect at the Colma and Crocker schools for all but first graders; at Garden Village school for the second and third graders; at Jefferson elementary school for the fifth and sixth graders; at Woodrow Wilson school for two second grades and the third and fourth; at Westlake for all but first graders.

Daly City's situation does not conform to the status quo. Where in some communities educators can figure a normal increase in enrollment when planning future facilities, here the figures become astronomical from year to year with the building of new sub-divisions.

Therefore the district must confront the state with requests for finances that must seem entirely out of line with other areas.

But the problem is here and the state, through the district officials and the people, must hear about it.

Proposition 2 means that more of the load will be shifted to the state. Proposition 24 makes available $185,000,000 state funds to districts showing need.

The district can make itself eligible for these funds by bonding itself to the legal maximum at an election to be held here in February. The state has not set up the procedure for applying for funds as yet but when that time comes the local district should make its bid for a sizeable portion of those moneys. School districts are always beseeching the state for more funds but the local district has ample evidence of its need.

Who Has Seen the Community Center?

It's a sad state of affairs, especially to the 2302 citizens who voted for completion of the Community Center, but the building doesn't look any different than it did three months ago, and there is even less activity around the site now that workers have completed their tasks.

The city council has turned the administration of the center over to the recreation commission. So that body will have the voice in who, if anybody, makes use of the building. But the current rec director is not in a position to make any long-range plans for activities at the building, since his predecessor takes over Dec. 15.

That means, in all probability, that the center is doomed to remain as a vast monument to inaction at least until that date.

If 2302 persons wanted to see the center complete, is it possible that some of that number might take it upon themselves to at least see that the landscape is clean? As it is the scene is only an object of disgust to passing motorists.

The council, with the exception of turning the administration to the recreation commission, has failed as yet to take any official action regarding the building or sorry looking grounds.

Will this state of affairs change, or will the building be left to remain in status quo?

Until the Real Thing Comes Along

The only good solution to come along in regards to the parking meter problem was evidenced nearly two weeks ago when a muni bus severed three of the pesty things from their bases at 3317 San Jose avenue.

However, the meters seem to sprout right back up, the poles already being in place and ready for installation of the change-loving mechanism.

Replacing of the meters was hindered slightly this week when some soul with a lusty antipathy for the machines wiggled the poles out of line while they were still in the wet cement.

We do not condone action which takes such a malevolent course, but are hard put to condemn the rascals.

Put Some Money in the Pot, Boy

A game that kids love to play is climaxed with the key words, "Ashes, Ashes, all fall down." From the looks of local citizens when they receive the fiscal liens placed against them by city and county an appropriate game would be, "Taxes, Taxes, all fall down."

Many Daly City residents were alarmed at their city taxes, but were actually appalled at the county "greeting." The county tax collector, poor innocent that he is, was besieged by calls from local tax-payers and others throughout the county, who believed him responsible.

The responsibility lies with the fact that California offers more benefits than probably any other state, and these benefits must be paid for through the county, the state's tax collector.

And city government, endeavoring to offer more parks, roads, health, fire protection and a myriad of other things, cannot make the money itself. We only get what we pay for. If the citizens want to live in a log cabin dump their sewage in a hole, dig their own well and fight off marauders with a muzzle loader, that might be their business. But if they want the little advantages that come with city life, they'll have to grin and bear the taxes.

Still Remains a Best Seller

The advent of television has had a tremendous impact on the nation but it hasn't changed the "picture" as far as the public's interest in newspapers is concerned. The American Newspaper Publishers' Association reports that newspapers are being read more today than ever before. Says the association: "Newspaper reading is just about the only regular activity which showed no change after the advent of television."

Here are some figures on newspaper circulation nationally: Present weekday circulation runs around 54 mililon. That's nearly double the 28 million circulation of 1920. Yet, in the same three decades the population of the country has increased less than 50 per cent from 105 million persons to about 156 million now.

The continuing—and increasing—popularity of the newspaper may have several causes such as greater public interest in local, national and world affairs, the development of interpretive and background news reporting, and the swift transmission of action photos. But one of the newspaper's greatest advantages over television and radio is that it provides a visual record that can be read and re-read at one's personal convenience. This enables the reader to absorb the information he wants at a pace that will enable him to retain it. A brief statement on the radio or a fleeting picture on TV afford no such opportunity.

Things may change, but the newspaper, like the stork, will continue its deliveries by popular demand.

Asian-Arab Block Is Finding the Truth

There is no reason to feel optimistic about the efforts of Asian and Arab members of the United Nations to find an acceptable formula for prisoner exchange in the Korean conflict. It would be pretty hard to come up with something acceptable when the Reds are determined not to accept anything. However, the fact that some members of the U. N. are taking a more active part in seeking an end to fighting, is encouraging. For too long, the United States has been left to carry the main burden in the diplomatic struggle as well as on the battlefield. The Asian-Arab bloc believes that, without violating the right of a prisoner not to return home against his will, a way can be found to bridge the gap between the differing views of the two sides on this issue. Their efforts can't hurt and they might possibly succeed. What's more, even if they fail, it may give the Asian and Arab delegates a clearer insight as to Moscow's real aims. This is something they have never faced up to.

Well, He Gets One Record, Anyway

There have been some statements to the effect that Richard Nixon will be the youngest Vice President in American history. He's 39. But, if we read the record correctly, that honor still belongs to John C. Breckinridge, elected in 1856 with Buchanan. He was born in Lexington, Kentucky, in 1821 and was therefore 35 when elected. He was a Democrat. Nixon is the youngest Republican Vice President, being several years the junior of Theodore Roosevelt's 43 at the time "Teddy" and McKinley won in 1900.

Younger Pledges To Inform Newspapers Of Activities; Emphasis on 9th District

The Editor
Dear Sir:

I want to express my appreciation for your cooperation during my campaign for election as congressman from San Mateo county.

The fine and impartial coverage of the news given by the press was, in my opinion, of immeasurable value in presenting a true picture of the issues at stake in this important period.

Please be assured that during my term in office I will endeavor to keep your newspaper constantly informed of my activities in Washington, with special emphasis on subjects and legislation of interest to the citizens of the 9th Congressional District.

Your suggestions on matters pertaining to the general welfare of San Mateo county will be most welcome, and will be given my immediate consideration.

Again, many thanks.

Very sincerely yours,

Says Private Huddles by Chamber Or Other Groups Is Un-American Practice

Dear Sir:

I read last week's article in THE RECORD written by Joseph J. Ternes, president of the Chamber of Commerce at Oakland, and I wish to state that if any Chamber of Commerce or other public committee or institution desires to go into private huddles on any subject at all concerning the American people's welfare it is decidedly un-American and I would consider it quite suspicious, so according to my estimation Mrs. Franzen had a perfect right to attend that particular meeting and present her viewpoint in the interests of all people at large. Presumably she was there to gather any information which might be detrimental to Americans and to fight against it, which would appear to me to be the reason she was asked to leave and not because she wasn't invited. To me Mrs. Franzen knows her subject thoroughly and is able to discuss same on any point. Have you anyone else able to oppose her?

Would an F.B.I. officer be asked to leave a meeting of this type if this officer wasn't invited?

Many of these officials do not understand yet what this artificial fluoridation of water will do in the damage it will cause over a period of time.

Our Daly City water is the best water in the county and is a good water, having all the natural mineral properties required for our drinking purposes and we do not need any imitation fluorides which are manufactured from the poisonous by-products of aluminum, etc., and by the purchasing of same, will make some other monopoly richer and our taxes higher and heavier. Water that has the natural fluorides are God-given and not man-made and if some people are fortunate enough to live in those territories and able to drink of this natural water—that is their perogative. I am given to understand that there are few sources in the country of this natural fluor water. Why try to ape it?

Until this so-called fluoridation is thoroughly understood by the authorities responsible for our water supply, Americans should not be used for guinea pigs.

I happen to be one of those people wanting to live healthily, if possible, for many more years, to be a mother to my children.

Once again, I reiterate, it is against the constitution to tamper with the people's drinking water.

Yours very truly,
Muriel Smith

Second Fatal Accident

The second fatal accident at the "deathtrap" intersection of Junipero Serra boulevard extension and Crystal Springs road claimed the life of a San Francisco man and caused serious injury to his companion last weekend.

Killed instantly was Edward Bernhard Lang, 51, teamster of 528 Divisadero street, when an old model sedan he was driving went out of control while southbound on Junipero Serra boulevard, plunged across the intersecting Crystal Springs road and crashed into a dirt embankment at the "dead end" of Junipero Serra.

One corner of the front end of the car also struck a tree. The impact crumpled the engine, and Lang was thrown to the roadway. Deputy coroners said he died of a crushed chest.

Six Polio Deaths

Fourteen-year-old Wayne Zerbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Zerbe, Sr., 276 Mendocino street, Brisbane, was the sixth victim claimed by polio in the county this year.

The boy, a student at St. Joseph's Catholic school, San Francisco, was brought to Community hospital a week ago and placed in an iron lung.

County health officials said that this sixth death was an all-time record for fatalities from polio in the county.

Ingenious Death Trap

Deputy Sheriff McDonald Craik calmly talked his way out of certain death for 15 grueling minutes while a self-admitted cop-hater had the muzzle of a loaded .306 rifle pushed into his midriff. Craik persuaded Alfred Aluvisetti Jr., 26, a cabinetmaker of 2175 Dumbarton avenue, East Palo Alto, to unload the threatening rifle and later decoyed him from his home to where other waiting officers could seize and manacle him.

Aluvisetti had threatened a general massacre of police officers called to his home by his wife, Mrs. Jeanne Aluvisetti, after she discovered he had rigged a death trap intended to blow her head off when she opened a door leading into a garage.

THOMAS WOLFE ON STAGE

By RIDGELY CUMMINGS

Thomas Wolfe wrote "The Web and the Rock" sometime in the 1930's and I read it then, when I was living in Greenwich Village and extracting money from would-be writers by running a literary agency. Well, not exactly running the agency but a one-third partner. And we didn't extract much money either, but enough to keep a pot of stew simmering on the back of the stove and coffee boiling in a big can full of egg shells. The egg shells were there because another of the partners believed they improved the coffee flavor.

All that must have been 15 years ago and I've never looked inside the covers of the book since, though it made a deep impression on me at the time. Today I went to the library to get it but all the copies were out.

The reason I wanted to re-read "The Web and the Rock" was that a dramatization of the novel had just hit the stage here in Hollywood and in my capacity as a drama critic I went on passes.

Even getting in free, which is a great thing for mellowing the critical attitude, I wasn't entirely pleased with the play. The adaptation for the stage, by someone named Lester Cohen, was weak despite the obvious good intentions of the playwright. He admired Wolfe but for the wrong things and not enough.

Eugenie Leontovich, one of the great names of the theatre, and George St. George were the producers. Miss Leontovich also acted. I had heard about her performances in "Grand Hotel," "Dark Eyes," "Tovarich," "Cherry Orchard" and so forth but now I was seeing her for the first time. She was, if I may coin a phrase, lousy.

This seems an unkind thing to say and maybe I had better temper it. When I write these columns I just put down the simple words that pop into my simple head but in my capacity as a reviewer I am more subtle and perhaps more generous too. It all adds up to the same thing anyway but here is how I said it in the review, if I may quote myself:

"Miss Leontovich proved herself an excellent actress of the old school—the school of the unpraised trembling hand, the lifted eyebrow significant pause, the hesitant whispering, barely audible invitation to the boudoir. Naturally she stole the show. But by stealing it she lost it because her part was actually a subordinate one. The more she shone, the more light was deflected from the real star of the story, the tortured, struggling novelist."

End of quote. In other words, Miss Leontovich was a ham and she hammed up her part so badly that it spoiled the effect of the play, changing the natural emphasis from the writer to his aging paramour.

Practically all of Thomas Wolfe's output was autobiographical and this was especially true of his longer novels such as "Look Homeward Angel," "Of Time and the River" and "You Can't Go Home Again" as well as "Web and Rock."

Since Wolfe was always writing about himself it is natural that he would be the central character in his books and should be such in any play made from one of them. But Miss Leontovich in her capacity as producer, director and actress failed to recognize this and tried to make her own part as the older woman who encourages the young writer and introduces him to literary tycoons the major role, with the writer hanging around the edges.

That she didn't entirely succeed and that the play had some good points was largely to the credit of a young actor named Earl Colbert, who played the part of George "Monk" Webber, Wolfe's alter ego and disguise for himself in the book. Colbert was well cast, giving a believable interpretation and having the right physical attributes. A big man, perhaps not so bulky as Wolfe's six foot six but large and weighty, he pounded the stage typewriter with the vehemence that one would expect actually did accompany Wolfe's reams and reams of wild, explosive, poetic pages.

Many of the scenes took place in the writer's studio so there was considerable typewriter pounding during the course of the play and I liked the energy that Wolfe's impersonator put into this, for I am a great believer in beating the blazes out of a machine. In fact, I rent an office model myself instead of using a portable because every two months I can turn it in on a new one, instead of wrecking my own property.

But even here the play wasn't realistic enough for me. Somewhere I had read that Wolfe was haunted by fear his precious output would be lost and consequently he made two carbons of everything he wrote, storing them in three large crates in different corners of his room, so he could always save one in case of fire. Mr. Colbert didn't do this and in fact the production seemed short of paper and he kept using the same single sheet over and over again, pausing occasionally to smooch with Miss Leontovich.

The play did have some merits however, including the reading of passages from Wolfe by a narrator to set the tone for the various scenes and the presence of some capable supporting players. Names I checked on my program as deserving praise included Catherine Cronin, Al Sargent, Justin McCarthy and Kay Kuter.

The play also had a salutory effect on the cultural life of Hollywood, if my experience at the public library was any indication. The fact that something, probably this production, had stimulated readers into withdrawing all available copies of Wolfe's novel is a good sign. For I am one of the vociferous few who believe that Thomas Wolfe is one of the great writers of our generation and deserves to be more widely read.

In The Past

TEN YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Thursday, Nov. 12—The tragic death of a 74-year-old man, Charles Reed, 268 Los Olivos avenue, Sunday in San Mateo Community hospital, followed the death of his 59-year-old wife, Mrs. Mary Reed, by only two days.

Even more pathetic was the fact that both man and wife lay ill with pneumonia at their home on Los Olivos avenue for several weeks without the attention of anyone. Both were confined to bed, too seriously ill to prepare food for themselves or get medical aid. No relatives or friends were near to know of the serious illness that finally overtook the aged couple.

The first Armistice Day in time of war in the history of America was observed yesterday in Daly City. No elaborate celebration was planned here. This policy was followed by most American cities in devoting all time and energy to the present war.

Motorists whose driving is doomed to be curtailed to a four-gallons-per-week schedule may get one week's reprieve, with the postponement of registration for basic ration books to next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. This delay will probably cause postponement of the effective date for rationing, originally announced as Nov. 22.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Friday, Nov. 12—A definite beginning was made at the city council meeting Monday of this week for the acquisition of property for the purpose of establishing recreation areas for the citizens of the community in the near future.

Considerable discussion developed at the meeting when Mayor Paul Selmi announced that, at the next council session, he would initiate a movement to appropriate funds for the purpose of acquiring suitable tracts of land on which to establish recreational centers.

The need for parks and playgrounds here has long been acute and recognized as an absolute necessity by all progressive residents.

A drinking party at Coyote Point Sunday of this week ended in a near tragedy when Edward A. Wagoner of San Francisco fell 30 feet from the brow of a cliff and was taken to a hospital, suffering from an undetermined back injury. Wagoner and Tony Gulbins, also of San Francisco, told police that they, with two women companions, had been drinking before the accident.

Another important step was taken at the meeting of the city council Monday evening of this week, when a contract was awarded for the extension of Westlake avenue through to Junipero Serra boulevard.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Friday, Nov. 11—The wedding of Miss Louise Gregoire and Mr. Raymond Grandona, of South San Francisco, which took place last Saturday evening, was an unusually pretty affair. The Nuptial Mass was read by the Rev. Father James P. Donohoe at 7 o'clock at St. Maximum church. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gregoire, has lived at 40 Peoria street since childhood. She is a popular member of the native daughters and also the drill team and is associated with her father in the floral business, having two shops in Lawndale.

19 Million Children Red Cross Members

Don't ever sell our youngsters short! Nineteen million of them are members of the Junior Red Cross. In fact, every elementary and secondary school pupil is automatically a member of that international organization if his school takes part in its program.

Junior Red Cross activities foster and promote a growing sense of responsibility to others, a growing understanding of other nationalities. Approximately eighty schools in this chapter area, from the north San Mateo county line through San Carlos and including the coastside, incorporate Junior Red Cross activities in their curricula. Some of the cleverest and most original tray favors and place cards are made for use at Veterans Hospital in Palo Alto, the Children's Health Home, the Crystal Springs Home for the aged, and other such institutions. They feature different holidays through the year, and add a gay and festive touch wherever they are used.

In art classes, the youngsters draw and paint pictures of incidents in their own lives, or of some event or sport in which they are especially interested. These pictures are mounted and exchanged with schools in other lands, schools where pupils have made pictures of what interests them. And, then there is the International Correspondence Program, an exchange of picture albums. These albums include a series of drawings and a written comment, done by the pupils. To a surprising extent, this enables the children to much better understand themselves and each other. Last year our schools exchanged with England, France, Germany, Greece and Japan.

The Norris Dam on the Clinch river in Tennessee is 265 feet high and has a capacity of 2,567,000 acre feet.

The following letter of appreciation has been received by Chief of Police Jack Doyle:

"As principal of the Jefferson Union high school, I wish to express to you my appreciation of your prompt and efficient handling of the recent burglary case at the high school which I referred to you. The fact that the guilty party was apprehended in less than four hours after I reported the incident to you speaks most highly for your administration of the police department of our city.

Very sincerely, James Ferguson, Principal."

Held up in their home by a masked man armed with a gun, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lewis, of 166 San Diego avenue, were robbed of a small sum of money and a $125 ruby ring last Monday night.

The robbery also stripped the wedding ring from Mrs. Lewis' finger when he took the ruby ring.

He returned the wedding ring, however, when her husband protested, saying: "Don't be a cheap skate."

After the bandit had returned the wedding ring, he backed out of the front door and disappeared as quietly as he had appeared on the scene.

CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED HERE NOVEMBER 16-22

The biggest news item from the library these days is Children's Book Week, which this year will be observed from Nov. 16 to 22. The slogan for 1952, "Reading Is Fun," is a reaffirmation of what children have already discovered, and are constantly in the process of rediscovering, through their adventures in reading.

For long past are the days when a child's book meant a thinly-disguised geography lesson or a pius moral tale designed solely to instruct. Children have defended themselves by showing a total disinterest in any book that does not treat them as equals or that teaches them only what they can learn at school, and by acclaiming those books that meet their needs. As a result of their demands boys and girls may now choose from the many, many books published expressly for them which feature vital, honest and imaginative qualities between their covers.

Their choice of subject matter ranges from the practical to the fantastic and is, in fact, limitless as long as the author is honest in his presentation.

It has been said that a book is "about the most perfect friend anybody ever invented." The author of this phrase, Paul Tripp, goes on to explain why a book is such an ideal companion. He states that, "a book is never out somewhere when you want it but always waiting for a visit from its reader. And if right in the middle of a visit you get tired, why you don't have to be apologetic, just put the book down and tell it you'll see it later. Now that's what I call a friend.

Want to go somewhere? Well you don't have to do much coaxing, just find the right book and it'll gladly take you anywhere your heart desires: to Africa, to the West, to the stars, even to the bottom of the sea if that's where you want to go. And if you feel like staying up late, well a book's the one friend who'll never start yawning in your face. It will stay up with you as long as you like and never complain once." Thus Paul Tripp very aptly points out that among other qualities friends and therefore books, are fun.

The adult who wants his children to realize the priceless heritage which is every child's birthright, that is the discovery of the myriad pleasures and experiences that reading can bring, must be careful never to make reading seem a duty. If they are not already aware of it, help your children to the realization that READING IS FUN.

In observance of the 34th annual celebration of National Book Week, there will be a special display of books, old and new, in the children's room of the Daly City Public Library. The staff cordially invites all residents to come in and browse around.

General Pershing PTA Hears Interesting Talk by Professor on Children's Emotions

Is your child afraid, jealous, or does he have some other characteristics you are worried about? Then you would have been interested in the Nov. 6 meeting of General Pershing PTA.

A film, "Children's Emotions," was shown, after which Jack Regal, psychology professor at San Francisco State college, spoke. His relaxed and informal manner encouraged good audience participation in discussion and asking questions.

Professor Regal relaxed many parents' fears by informing them that "kids are tougher than we think." Spanking, slapping or cross words won't hurt your child as long as he knows you love him, and have his physical and spiritual well being in mind, Regal said.

In other words, the effect on the child depends upon the attitude of the parent.

After each meeting of General Pershing PTA this year the comments on the speakers and topics have been very enthusiastic. Each future meeting has vital and interesting programs planned, and all parents, teachers and any others who wish to, are invited to attend.

One hundred and fifty parents and our teachers witnessed the first child participation program of the year based on the theme "Your Child's Health at Home and at School." Mrs. Harry Bosberry, acting program chairman, introduced the moderator, Frank Peasley, who presented the following youthful participants: Susan Damon, who talked on food in relation to good health; Carolyn Bordegary, who talked on rest; and Ronald Lieberman, who told how exercise contributed to good health. Patricia Palmer had as her topic "Cleanliness," and Karyn Williams closed the panel discussion with her talk on protection against disease.

Adult education courses may be had at the Westlake school according to Mrs. Robert Malone, recreation chairman. Due to the lack of equipment a full program cannot be presented. Courses such as public speaking, foreign languages, flower arrangement and ceramics may be had. Anyone interested in the adult education courses or first aid course can still register by calling Mrs. Peasley, PL. 5-8638.

JEFF GRIDDERS TAKE BEARS 13-6

Indians Paced by Honeywell's Running, Rosa's Passing in Taking Second Victory

The Jefferson high gridders outclassed Menlo-Atherton in nearly every department last Friday to win, 13-6, and take their second league victory of the season.

The Indians, led by Backs Wally Honeywell, Nick Bockwinkel and Ray Rosa, scored touchdowns in the first and second periods to take a 13-0 lead at halftime. The Bears failed to score until midway in the fourth period.

59-Yard Run

Honeywell set up the first Jeff score with a 59-yard run to the Bear seven-yard line. Bockwinkel then carried it to the three, and, after a penalty against the Bears had moved the ball even closer, he crashed over center for the score. John Geertsen's kick was good and gave the Jeffs their 7-0 lead.

In the second period the Indians marched from their own 21 in 11 plays to score. Rosa, completing five out of eight passes in the drive, hit End Bill Butler in the end zone with a 37-yard pass. Geertsen's kick was wide.

Only Score

Menlo-Atherton's only score came when a Jeff punt was returned to the Bear 40. The Menlo squad scored on the next play on a pass from Bill Gibbs to Dave Easley, who took the toss on the Jeff 40 and ran all the way.

Rosa hit eight times in 22 attempts during the day, but his passing accuracy was actually better than the statistics indicate. On at least seven occasions he pitched the ball straight into the hands of receivers, who couldn't seem to hang on. Rosa passed for a total of 89 yards.

eP-v

The Indians amassed 271 yards rushing and lost 25 yards. Total yardage gained for the locals was 335, as compared to 150 for the Bears. The Indians also came out on top in the first-down category, getting 11, to 6 for the Bears.

Top pass receiver for the day was End Bill Butler, who took in four passes, good for 55 yards.

Honeywell Again

Top ground gainer for the Jeffs was again Wally Honeywell. In 16 attempts he packed the ball 145 yards, losing 10, for an average per carry of 8.4 yards. Bockwinkel, who brought his scoring total in league play to 24 points, carried the ball eight times, gaining 85 yards, for an average of 10.1 yards per carry.

Jeffs Could Still Finish Strong In League Standings

With only three games remaining on the league sked, Jefferson's Indians are in seventh spot with two wins and an equal number of losses. They could still come out somewhere on the top of the heap by winning the rest of their games, as there are no teams in the league with perfect records.

INDIANS SPLIT WITH CAPUCHINO

The Jeff 20 basketball team notched its seventh victory last week, while the 10s were edged out in the final seconds of play in games against Capuchino last week.

The Indian 20s, led by guard Darrell Chapman, who scored 10 points, downed the Mustangs, 48-25, with all but two members of the Jeff squad getting into the scoring column.

The 10's loss to Capuchino, 26-25, gave the Mustang colts the PAL championship and their ninth straight victory without a loss. Jefferson overcame an early 7-0 Mustang lead to forge ahead, 13-7, at the close of the first period, and 15-10 at half-time.

At the end of the third quarter the Mustangs had closed the gap to 20-19, and tied it up at 25-25 with 35 seconds remaining as high scorer Ron Arndt hit a lay-in. He was fouled while making the shot and with 20 seconds left sunk the free throw that gave his team victory.

One of Key Men in Jefferson's Two Successive Wins

A WOULD-BE TACKLER is dispensed with by Wally Honeywell, the Jeffs top ground-gainer, in the game with Palo Alto Oct. 31. Halfback Honeywell skirted around end for one of his many gains on this play. Honeywell also led the Jeff ground attack last week against Menlo Atherton, with the Indians coming out on top, 13-6. He will berelied on heavily in today's encounter with Capuchino, a team which is winless thus far this season. Photo by Jim Jones

Jefferson Graduate Is Official Champion

At least part of Daly City's claim to national athletic prowess rests on the shoulders of 18-year-old Victor G. Baher, Jr., son of local Police Commissioner Victor Baher.

The younger Baher, along with 46 other national AAU champions from California, were photographed by leading Bay Area newspapers Monday after their feats had been declared official by the Amateur Athletic Union.

National Champ

Baher claimed the national junior olympic championship in the boys' senior division twelve-pound shot put last June with a worthy heave of 52 ft. 3 in. He had been attending the University of Southern California before entering the national competition, but was eligible because he was only 17 at the time.

Graduated from Jefferson at the tender age of 16, Baher enrolled at USC and promptly made the jayvee and varsity football squads last autumn.

He now is attending San Mateo Junior college, but is at present ineligible for football due to his transferring.

While in high school, Baher, who also played first string on the football team, reached 51 ft. 6" in the shot in his senior year. He also tossed the discus, his favorite sport, 134 ft. 6", which was the best in the league that year.

However, Baher didn't even pick up a shot or a discus until his junior year in high school.

Liked Baseball

His fondest ambition was to make good in baseball. In 1947 he played catcher for the Catholic Youth Organization team that won the state championships.

Then in his frosh year at Jefferson, he tried his hand at football.

He suffered a separated right shoulder on the gridiron and that's probably the reason he's a national champion today.

In his junior year his shoulder still bothered him so he took up the shot and discus, hoping the exercising of the shoulder would have a medicinal effect.

First Shot

His first try at the 12-lb. shot was hardly successful, hitting about 20 feet out. But as his first season wore on he developed his form in both the shot and discuss and had attained marks of 48 ft. and 112 ft. respectively before the year ended.

Those familiar with the art of tossing the shot will readily agree that it's a big change from the 12 lb. ball to the 16 lb., the weight used in inter-collegiate competition. But Baher shouldn't have too much difficulty with it.

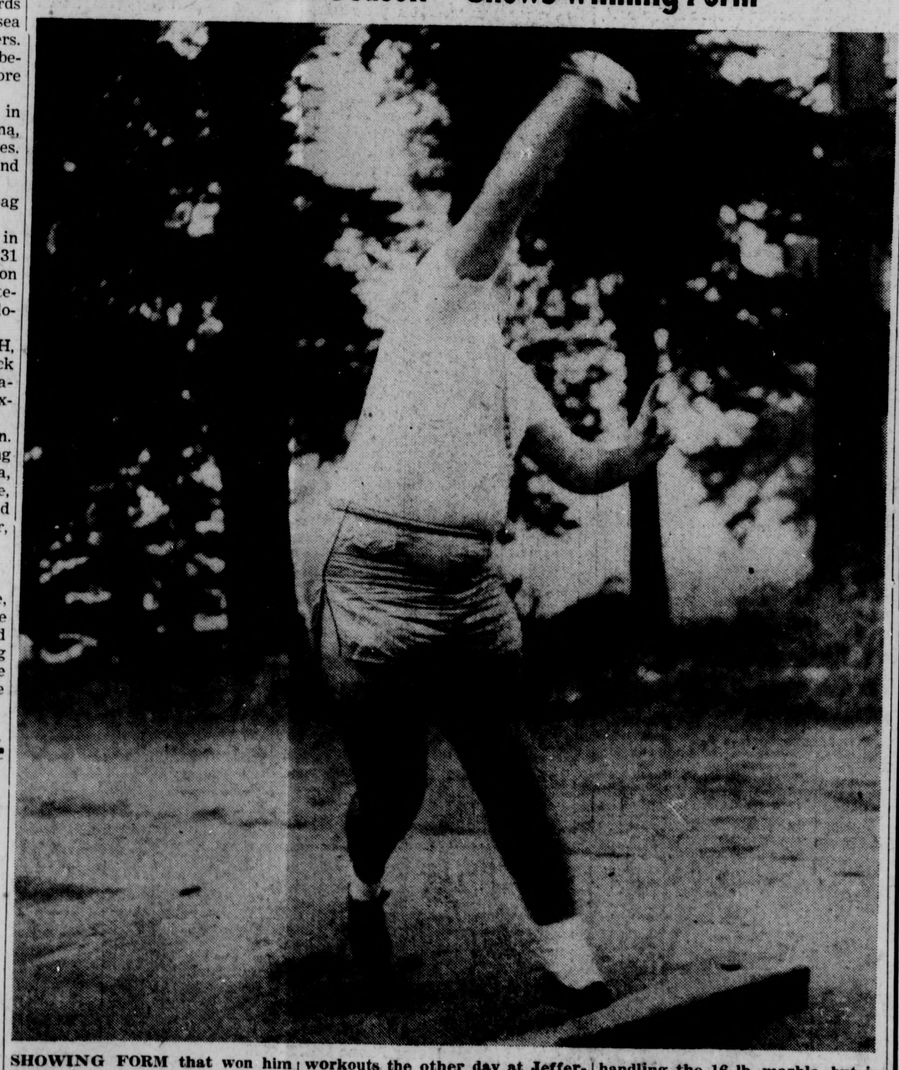
In his senior year in high school he gave the collegiate-weight ball a few tries, hitting 45 feet. With two more years under his belt, he should threaten 50 feet this coming season.

Discus Specialty

Baher really shines in the collegiate discus. He tossed the platter 155 feet last year, a mark that is good enough to take most intercolegiate meets. This spring he's going to make his bid for national junior collegiate honors in the discuss and may enter the shot event.

Baher hasn't made up his mind for whence he's bound after this spring. It'll be either Stanford, University of California, or back to University of Southern California, he says. Wherever it is, they'll be glad to get him, what with three years of football eligibility left, plus championship potentials in the weight events.

Baher Rushes Track Season -- Shows Winning Form



SHOWING FORM that won him the AAU junior olympic shot put championship is Vic Baher, Jr. Baher heaved the 12-lb. iron ball 52 feet 3 inches last June to win the title. He went through a few workouts the other day at Jefferson, tossing the ball about 53 feet with little difficulty. This year, now that he's entered at San Mateo Junior college, he'll be handling the 16 lb. marble, but in high school days he shoved it out 45 feet, so should take his share of collegiate honors in the weight event.

PLAYOFFS TOMORROW FOR REC CHAMPIONS

Roaring back from two consecutive overtime losses, the OLPH Lions upset the highly favored Bulldogs to roll into the final playoffs. The OLPH win was largely a team effort with every player exerting all of his energy to give the Lions a potent attack and an air-tight defense.

The Colma Panthers squeezed through to victory over a determined bunch of scrappers called the Colma Giants. This was the same team that the Panthers had beaten a week earlier 70-0, but no one would recognize them as the same team. The Giants played an inspired game and almost knocked the over-confident Panthers out of the finals.

Rams Shut Out Wildcats

The younger brothers of the Lions, namely the OLPH Rams, gave the Parochial schools a one-two punch in the finals by decisively shutting out the Colma Wildcats.

The Colma Eagles barely escaped defeat and squeezed into the finals by beating down a determined Colma Mustang team.

Now that the league has come to its last game, it is time to review the prospects of each team in the Championship playoff.

The Lion-Panther game should be one of thrills and excitement. They have played each other twice, the Lions winning the 1st 20-2 and the Panthers winning the 2nd 6-0. Throughout the season the Lions have scored 90 points while giving up 31 and the Panthers have scored 156 points while giving up 45. Finally, both teams have improved tremendously since last meeting each other. The only conclusion that this reporter can make is that the game is a toss-up. It pits the watchdog defense of the Lions against the steam roller offense of the Panthers. The game will tell the story and it should be a beauty.

B League Closer

The B League Championship contestants, the Rams and the Eagles, are even closer. They have played each other twice, each winning one game 6-0. In League play the Rams have scored 111 points to the Eagles 187 and have given up 6 points to the Eagles 13. The Rams have the edge in defense, while the Eagles have the edge in offense. It appears to be the same story again of the OLPH defense against the Colma offense. Again this reporter says take your pick. Victory will go to the team that will not be beaten. It could be either one.

Central Club Takes Over First in Keg League With Three Wins Over King's

Central Club broke their deadlock for first place with King's Market in the Daly City-Colma bowling league Tuesday night by trouncing the King's aggregation three straight games.

Led by Babe Deluca, who hit high series for the evening of 599, the Central Clubbers racked up scores of 915, 906, and 849 in the three games, and brought their season record to 18 wins, 9 losses. Hilltop Cab took two out of three to vault themselves into undisputed second place with a 17-10 record. Tied for third are Daly City-Colma Lions and Vince and Fred's, both with 16-11 records.

Dom Lenzini of Hilltop Cab claimed high game with a hefty 224 score. Lloyd Bradley hit 211 to take second in that department.

Verducci's Team Takes to Road Again; Meet College of Idaho Coyotes Tomorrow

Joe Verducci's San Francisco State's footballers, who lost to San Diego's driving finish last week, 39-28, take the road again.

The Gators meet College of Idaho Saturday at Caldwell and will be on the very short end against an Idaho team which has a 6-1-1 record. The Coyotes, with only 11 Idaho natives on the 46 man squad, lost one game, a 20-13 opener to loaded Idaho State.

Prime Threat

San Francisco's prime threat will hinge on the men who almost saved the San Diego tussle. QB Maury Duncan, who has passed for 1291 yards in seven games and receivers John O'Shea, halfback and Ends Merrill Jacobs and George Wehner.

O'Shea, who is also State's top ground gainer with 634 yards, caught three for 153 against the Aztecs. Wehner grabbed three for 104, including one 74 yard touchdown romp, and Merrill Jacobs, the most consistent receiver. Jacobs nabbed nine tosses for 101 yards to up his season total to 30 catches for 381 yards.

4-3 Record

The Gators have a 4-3 record in the toughest schedule of all time and the two ruggedest games lie ahead. After College of Idaho, State opposes Fresno State at Fresno.

The Idaho Coyotes, after tying Pacific U, 7-7, are undefeated and on top in the Pacific Northwest Conference. They have romped over Williamette, 7-6, Linfield, 34-7, Lewis and Clark, 20-13, Whitman, 53-14, Mountain Home Air Force Base, 42-13 and University of Mexico, 55-20.

The Coyotes whipped San Francisco, 45-19, last year and this is rated a far better team. Bob Morford, a 205 pound fullback from Parma, Idaho, is the top offensive threat. He made All-Conference last year and is playing his fourth season on the varsity. The majority of Idaho's stars are from Southern California, where Coach Eddi Cole got his start. There is a scattering from Chicago, and various others from all parts of the country.

Ground Attack Bogged

San Diego's big line bogged the San Francisco ground attack, but the Gators probably came within three fumbles and three costly interceptions of handling the Border City team. Each fumble was recovered in Gator territory by San Diego and the three interceptions were on the Azetec goal line, when San Francisco was driving for touchdowns.

Little Dick Nave topped all ground gainers with 60 yards, including one 22 yard romp.

San Francisco has gained a total of 2785 yards in seven games against 2125 for the opposition.

JEFFERSON FROSH-SOPH TROUNCED BY SAN MATEO FOR FIRST LOSS OF YEAR

The Jefferson Indians frosh-soph team were plowed under last week in their first loss of the season, dropping a 31-6 contest to San Mateo.

The loss, which was a decided upset, was brought about by San Mateo's alert defensive play. The Jeffs never even crossed the 50-yard line until the third quarter, when they made their sole TD from a spread formation which temporarily puzzled Bearcat defenders.

The Indians started out in the hole when Bearcat Bucky Kahler kicked into their end zone. The Jeffs fumbled, setting up the first San Mateo score.

Quarterback Jim Honeywell gave the Bearcats the next break.

The Jeff back booted a short, wobbly ball which the Matean safety man returned to the Indian nine-yard line, and the San Mateo crew scored on the next play.

Jefferson's worst fiasco of the afternoon came when the local team was attempting the statue of liberty play. Honeywell faded back and held the ball out to be received by his teammate, but Matean end Jerry Meyers snatched the ball and ran to the Indian 14, scoring on the next two plays.

Game for Young or Old

IT'S FUN for youngsters and grown-ups alike—the tumble-bug game. For the bugs, get some capsules from your druggist. Drop a ball bearing into each, close the capsule and mark it with a colored tape, so that each player will know his own bug.

The only other equipment needed for the game is a playing board. Cut a piece of Presdwood about one foot square and nail it to a block of one-inch lumber four inches wide and as long as the playing board, to form a ramp. You'll need to plane the block of wood to the proper angle to make the Presdwood fit evenly.

Up to four players can participate with a board the size of the one described. Each player holds his capsule in an upright position at the top edge of the playing board. At the signal to "go," the bugs are released to tumble end over end down the ramp. The one reaching bottom first is the winner.

Your Civil Defense slogan could be, "To fail to prepare is to prepare to fail."

Asphalt Roofing, Versatile Material, Suits All Buildings

The same fundamental kind of roofing material that is used on most American homes is also made in a variety of styles suitable for all other kinds of buildings—from little poultry range houses to tall office buildings.

Asphalt shingles, according to the Department of Commerce, are used on 80 percent of the new homes built in the United States. Other asphalt roofing materials are roll roofings and saturated felts, which are used in the fabrication of "built-up" roofs for flat-roof structures.

Weights of asphalt roofings vary from 45 pounds to 325 pounds per square. A square is the amount of material needed to cover 100 square feet of roof surface.

A Civil Defense first aid kit is useless—if you don't know how to use it! At least one member of each family should be trained in Red Cross first aid.

LEAVE NOZZLE ALONE

It is a great deal easier to wash the car with a hose if the nozzle is left off entirely, advises the National Automobile Club. The nozzle, regardless of the setting used, gives the water greater pressure than if it is allowed to flow unrestricted from the end of the hose. As little pressure as possible is the desirable thing. Besides, the task of wasihng is less messy if the nozzle is removed from the hose.

THE OUTDOORS

Will Release 80,000

In the first year of operation under a new pheasant planting policy, game farms of the California Department of Fish and Game will release about 80,000 pheasants prior to the opening of the hunting season on Nov. 22.

Carl VanOrnum, supervisor of state game farms, reported a total release of more than 50,000 pheasants by the end of October. The birds—about three-fifths male—are being released daily from 14 state game farms and 50 holding pens operated by cooperating sportsmen's clubs.

This year's total game bird release will be down from the record number of 110,000 pheasants released in 1951, VanOrnum said. The new Fish and Game Commission release policy calls for a reduced quota of birds in areas where the pheasants have been established and represent a maximum use of the habitat.

An object of the policy, Van Ornum revealed, is to improve the quality of the released birds by holding them to a more mature age.

An average of 1200 birds will be liberated on each of 15 State-operated cooperative hunting areas before the season opens, with additional releases slated throughout the 10-day hunting period.

Hunters Fined $600

WOODLAND—A trio of Oakland hunters has been fined $600 in the court of Judge Charles R. Jameson for shooting pheasants out of season.

Paul Zachery (1037 Magnolia), T. T. Hankins (1175 12th street), and Allen Edwards (1520 Union street), all of Oakland, paid $200 each after their arrest on the Conaway Ranch by State Fish and Game Warden Hilton Bergstrom.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Sportsmen, trappers and wildlife workers with a touch of the Edison spirit in their blood can pick up a substantial grubstake by inventing a humane trap which meets the approval of two groups representing rather divergent views, according to the Wildlife Management Institute. The American Humane Association, 135 Washington avenue, Albany 10, New York, is offering a reward of $10,000 to the inventor of a trap for wild animals which will kill furbearers instantly or which will take them alive and uninjured. It also must be acceptable to professional trappers and to the trap manufacturing industry.

Crab Season Opens

Tomorrow marks the opening of the state-wide commercial crab fishing season, as well as the sportfishing season in all waters except along the coast of Del Norte, Humboldt and Mendocino counties, the California Department of Fish and Game reports. All seasons end July 31.

The open season begins December 15 in north coastal districts 6, 7, 8 and 9.

For sportsmen, the daily bag limit is 10 crabs in the Eel river and Humboldt bay. There is no bag limit elsewhere.

Buy Pheasant Tags

Although the California pheasant hunting season doesn't open until Nov. 22, the Department of Fish and Game has issued a warning to an estimated 175,000 ringneck hunters to buy their $1 pheasant tags early to avoid the disappointment of a possible sell-out at their favorite license agency.

H. R. Dunbar, chief of the state's license sales, discloses that state law limits the number of licenses of tags issued to individual agents. An unexpected last-minute rush at one of the 3,000 agencies—especially in the pheasant hunting country—can cause a sell-out before the agent can re-order.

Dunbar also suggests that hunters buy tags in their home town, thu relieving the seasonal burden on small agents.

The tags, bearing 10 detachable paper bands, are required of any pheasant hunter, regardless of age.

$1,250,000 in Venison

California deer hunters have just wound up a hunting season in which they took home at least $1,250,000 worth of venison, the Department of Fish and Game estimates.

The impressive figure is based on a near-record deer kill of 50,000 deer in 1952, with each successful hunter storing at least $25 worth of deer in his locker. An arbitrary price of 25 cents per pound of dressed meat was used.

In these days of high meat prices, state game managers admit their 25 cent per pound figure is far too low. It will compensate, they believe, for the many tons of deer meat unnecessarily wasted each year by careless hunters.

Save 876,000 Salmon

EUREKA—Fish rescue crews directed by the Department of Fish and Game saved a total of 876,000 young salmon, steelhead and cutthroat trout from drying steams in five north coastal counties during 1951. The live fish were later transferred to suitable waters nearby, according to a report from Bruce J. Kimsey, district fisheries biologist.

AVERAGE 3.4 FISH

More than 100,000 ocean anglers aboard 446 party fishing boats took home an average bag of 3.4 fish each during July, California Department of Fish and Game tabulations show.

BOWMEN BAG 41

Bow and arrow hunters in California scored a new record bag of at least 41 deer during the 1952 seasons, according to incomplete tag returns compiled by the Department of Fish and Game.

Bob Fontes Returns After Four Years Of Naval Service

Bob Fontes, former student at Jefferson high school, has returned to his home at 101-C Hillcrest drive, after spending four years service with the navy.

His most recent tour of duty was aboard the USS Moore, destroyer, which was 16 months in Korean waters. Fontes held the rank of sonarman first class.

Fontes was a former employee of THE RECORD, working here five years ago as a general helper around the print shop.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Fontes.

SCHOOL DISTRICT ASKS CANCELLATION OF PROPERTY TAXES

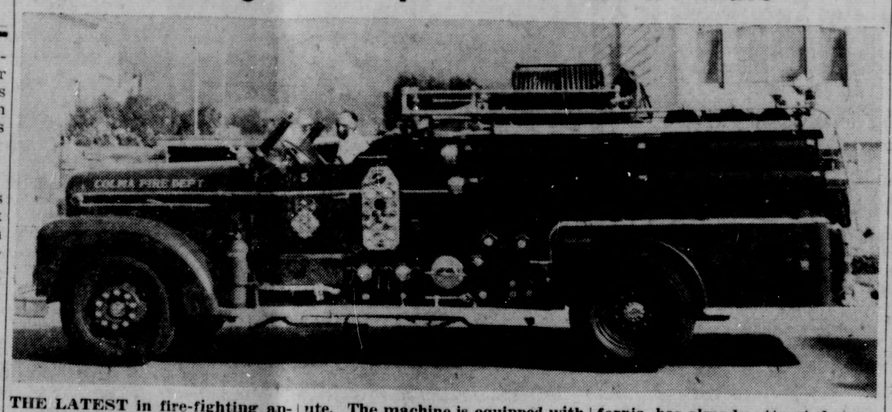
H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of the Jefferson elementary school district, appeared at Monday night's council meeting to ask cancellation of taxes on property recently purchased by the district.

The property mentioned was that at the corner of Knowles and Miriam.

Whether or not the cancellation will be granted depends on the time of purchase, according to City Clerk B. C. Ross.

In planning your family's Civil Defense emergency food shelf, select foods in tin, rather than easily-broken glass containers.

Colma's New Engine -- Pumps 1000 Gallons Per Minute



THE LATEST in fire-fighting apparatus is Colma Fire district's new Seagrave 8-12 engine. Purchased by the district at a cost of $23,000, the rig is able to pump 1000 gallons of water per minute and has an auxiliary pump with a capacity of 200 gallons per minute. The machine is equipped with 300 feet of booster "line," two live "lines" of 250 feet, and 1000 feet of 2½ inch hose. It also has its own lighting unit and an auxiliary ignition system. The motor generates 215 horse power. This engine, the only of its kind in northern California, has already attracted many fire-fighting officials from the area to come to the Colma station and take notice. Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy has expressed hope that Daly City may acquire one of the modern vehicles.

BURGLARS TAKE LOOT, VEHICLE AT GATEWAY

Gaining entry by a means not yet discovered, burglars broke into Gateway Chevrolet sometimes between Saturday and Sunday night, making way with about $800 worth of loot and an auto belonging to a Gateway customer.

Jerry Mincher, manager of the company, said all doors lock from the inside and there seemed no conceivable way that the culprits could have entered.

He said they got inside the tool room, after entering the building, by removing the door from its hinges. They made their getaway from the building by cutting a lock on one of the doors.

In the first robbery ever made on the establishment, 14 new tires, two radios and assorted valuable tools were taken. Mincher said a complete inventory of losses had not yet been made, but estimated them at $800. A car which had been left there by a customer to be painted was also absconded with, the thieves apparently using it as their means of transporting the other stolen articles.

Three Injured As Vehicle Overturns

Three sailors received injuries Wednesday when their vehicle plunged down an embankment and overturned on Skyline boulevard one-quarter mile south of the Alemany extension.

Driver of the car, James Barnicoat, 20, was proceeding south at an estimated speed of 40 miles per hour, when he hit a soft shoulder to the right. He tried to straighten the vehicle out, but the car continued across the highway and down the embankment, landing upside down in the ditch.

Barnicoat received minor injuries as did his companions, David Arthur Lawson, 22, and James J. Eckert, 22. All three were taken to Junipero Serra hospital and later transferred to Oak Knoll naval hospital.

A "bottle paper" cast overboard in the North Pacific Ocean on May 25, 1950, was recovered April 28, 1952, near Grays Harbor, Wn., after a probable drift of 6000 miles.

"Strong" Quake Is Felt in Daly City

An earthquake described as "strong" shook Daly City and other Bay Area points last Saturday at 11:39 a.m.

Daly City police said the tremor shook the city hall and rattled windows and dishes in homes. Officer John Walsh said he was at home at 461 San Diego avenue when the quake rattled his house. Officer Edward Beecher, who was on duty at the time in the city hall, described the quake as "strong" and said the city hall shook more than in a recent quake.

The quake was reported elsewhere by residents in San Francisco, transbay Oakland and in Marin county, to the north.

Newspaper offices and switchboards at police stations were flooded with telephone calls. Residents at Mill Valley, San Rafael and Kentfield in Marin county described the shock as "severe."

VITAL DRIVE IS HALF OVER

"One campaign, vital to every red-blooded American, is over! Another campaign, vital to every American residing within the boundaries of San Mateo county, is just half over!

Glen O. Smallcomb, president of the San Mateo County Community Chest, brought this to the attention of Red Feather campaign workers throughout the county today in a statement released in the form of a report to the people of San Mateo county.

"The 1953 funds campaign, with 57.4 per cent of the goal now reported, has battled the fiercest campaign competition in the history of the San Mateo County Community Chest," Smallcomb stated today in urging a renewed effort and revitalized push toward the $376,440 goal which now lacks $160,254.83 of 100 per cent success.

Smallcomb went on to point out that all efforts on the part of spirited volunteer workers in all communities have been turned in the last few crucial weeks toward the political issues and the presidential race so necessarily demanding the first consideration of every citizen of the United States.

"Our campaign has plugged along and the entire county has turned in a fine performance to date—taking a back seat in the public interest as our nation's most important show centered the stage. However, politics in San Mateo county must now take the back seat that the health, welfare and youth activities supported by funds from the Community Chest may be assured the stability and ability to further benefits to our own communities laying the groundwork of good government."

"With all political leaders of all parties pledging support to our president-elect, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, it is the individual duty of every citizen to pledge his support through his personal interest and assistance to the issues within his own community that their success and continuance may make for the sturdy backbone upon which a government of the people, by the people and for the people is built.

Oiling the door lock provides it with plenty of lubricant under ordinary circumstances but there are times when it pays to have the lock removed and thoroughly lubricated with graphite or other special lubricant, according to L. G. Evans, general service manager of the National Automobile Club.

Meeting the growing demands for service in timber-rich Roseburg has meant more than tripling the city's telephone system since 1941

Roseburg, Oregon: Thriving Timber Town

You may find this is the telephone story of your town, too

Roseburg, key city of the nation's largest timber county—grew fast during the war and postwar years. Like many Western communities, its population almost doubled—from 4,900 in 1940 to nearly 8,500 today. Its annual income soared, too—retail sales in the county increased six-fold in a single decade. In these figures lies the reason for our amazing telephone expansion in Roseburg. We had to grow fast to meet the needs of more people in town—and more of those people wanting telephone service.

Major telephone construction in Roseburg began shortly after the war. We built a new central office building. And in February, 1951, a completely new dial telephone system was placed in service for Roseburg telephone subscribers. Altogether, we spent more than $3,000,000 expanding Roseburg's telephone system. Even so, because Roseburg is continuing to boom beyond all expectations, we cannot provide all telephones needed the moment requests for service come in. But, in the face of materials shortages, we'll keep doing our best to take care of present orders . . . as well as those which we know still lie ahead.

Your telephone is one of today's best bargains

Roseburg's telephone story has been told in hundreds of communities up and down the West. Fast as the population has grown, the telephone has grown at an even faster rate . . . twice as fast, in fact, in the territory we serve. For at today's prices, the telephone is so economical more people can afford it . . . so useful, more people want it.
